

DTP?

The Amiga has the Answer

Desk Top Publishing has come a long way since it first evolved from basic WP. Now Commodore Business Machines is taking it one step further.

Using a Commodore Amiga 2000 DTP enters a new age of colour printing, and truly integrated graphics.

With programs such as Gold Disk's Professional Page (illustrated) you can produce quality documents on any Postscript laser printer. But beyond that, you can link to a phototypesetter and create camera-ready bromides or film separations for professional colour printing. So you keep control of deadlines, costs and creativity.

And as all Amiga programs store graphics using the same format, you can easily import scanned photographs, charts or indeed any Amiga-generated image.

To discover more about Commodore's answer to DTP call Vertical Market Sales on 0628 770088.

Documento cedido por:

David Sancho

Digitalización de:

<http://www.exploracommodore.com/>